DETAILED ACTION

Acknowledgment is made of the amendment filed on 2/21/06. Claims 25-43 are currently pending.

Claim Objections

1. Claims 25, 31, and 41 are objected to because of the following informalities:

in claim 25, line 2, insert --first-- between "a" and "personal";

in claim 31, line 3, insert --first-- between "a" and "personal"; and in claim 41, line 3, delete a ".".

Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Art Unit: 2876

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 25-43 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3 of U.S. Patent No. 6,964,369. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the independent claims of each differ in terminology only when compared.

For example, both patent '369 and the instant application claim:

a radio unit comprising:

a removable card configured to store a first personal access number and configured to store a plurality of telephone numbers (col. 16, lines 9-12); and a transceiver configured to transmit the personal access number to a wireless network to facilitate access to the wireless network, the transceiver is configured to receive a new access number different than the first access number; and the transceiver configured to transmit the new access to subsequently access the wireless network (col. 16, lines 14-20).

Both patent '369 and the instant application claim:

a method for use to access a wireless network, the method comprising:

reading a personal access number from a removable card by a radio unit (col. 15, lines 27-32);

transmitting to the wireless network by the radio unit the personal access number to facilitate access to the wireless network (col. 15, line 34-35); and receiving from the wireless network by the radio unit a new access number different than the first access number (col. 16, lines 1-4).

Art Unit: 2876

The claims of patent '369 do not explicitly teach all the limitations of the instant application.

However, one of ordinary skill in the art would have readily recognized, in respect to above discussions, that it would have been obvious to an artisan at the time the invention was made to use the teaching of claims 1-3 of patent '369 as a general teaching to perform the same function as claimed in the instant application. The instant claims obviously encompass the claimed invention of patent '369 since the instant application performs mainly the same function as the patent.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 25-43 would be allowed upon the timely submission of a terminal disclaimer.
5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record fails to teach or fairly suggest either alone or in combination thereof a radio unit and method for use to access a wireless network including:

a transceiver configured to transmit the person access number to the wireless network to facilitate access to the wireless network, the transceiver is configured to received a new access number different than the first access number; and the transceiver to transmit the new access number to subsequently access the wireless network.
